

I very much benefit from XM's instant traffic and weather, and think that they should have the ability to provide such valuable content to the homes and cars of the millions of listeners who have paid for this and other services that satellite radio has provided. XM has played by the rules since day 1 and they are most definitely within their rights to provide these services. I support their efforts 100%!